The Servians suffered a crushing defeat.

The Tageszeitung states that the Servians lost 800 men, while the Austrian casualties were 200. The prisoners taken by the Austrians are said to number 4,000.

The battle began when the Austro-Hungarian troops began to cross the Drina River, the Tageszeitung says.

Servian cavalry opposed their advance, but were driven back upon the position occupied by the infantry.

This point was shelled by Austrian artillery on the Bosnian side of the river, and when the Servians were compelled to retreat they were attacked by the Austrians in force.

AUSTRIANS AND SERBS ENGAGED IN DEATH GRAPPLE IN MANY BATTLES

FIRST VICTORY FOR ARMY OF INVASION

In view of the political crisis in Europe, there has been a great deal of interest in the financial district in the relative financial strength of the nations that might possibly be involved in a general conflict. It will be seen from the following table that the resources of the Triple Entente substantially exceed those of the Triple Alliance, although the national debts of the former group of powers far exceed the aggregate of the indebtedness of the latter group.

The revenues, however, of the United Kingdom, France and Austria are very much larger than those of Germany, Austria and Italy. Figures show, however, that the wealth of the United States is greater than that of all the nations in the Triple Alliance combined and exceeds the total resources of the Franco-Russian alliance. It is greater, too, than that of the United Kingdom and Russia combined.

FINANCIAL STRENGTH AND NATIONAL DEBTS OF THE POWERS.

	Revenue.	Expenditures.	Debt.	Total wealth.
TRIPLE ALLIANCE.
Germany	$879,656,000	$879,656,000	$1,117,418,000	$60,500,000,000
Austria	456,909,000	636,852,000	1,423,511,000	25,000,000,000
Italy	512,800,000	505,841,000	2,706,609,000	20,000,000,000
TRIPLE ENTENTE.
United Kingdom	$918,805,000	$917,929,000	$3,485,818,000	$80,000,000,000
France	914,604,000	914,550,000	6,283,675,000	65,000,000,000
Russia	1,674,035,000	1,674,035,000	4,553,485,000	40,000,000,000
UNITED STATES.
	$992,249,000	$965,274,000	$1,028,344,000	$130,000,000,000

The above tabulation does not include the resources of the colonies of the respective nations or of their dependencies.

Nish, continued until night and was resumed today. Several hundred have been killed on both sides, the dispatches add.

Another battle is in progress at Ratcha.

The advice from Nish show that, as had been anticipated, the Austro-Hungarian armies were hurled against Servia in full force, two invading the kingdom and a third held in reserve to move in case of action by Montenegrin troops.

One division crossed the Danube above Semendria and moved up the Morava Valley. There was sharp resistance from small detachments of Servians, who fell back after each skirmish.

Near Semendria the Austrians encountered the Servian main body. The Serbs made a determined resistance before night and put a stop to the fighting. The Servian artillery did much heavy damage on the Austrian column.

The column advancing from the west first met stubborn resistance at Ratcha. There were slight losses on both sides, and the Servians retreated to Lomitza, where they fought from behind a strong fortress. Serbs hold the fort until night, inflicting heavy losses on the attacking Austrians.

The Serbs had blown up the bridge connecting Servia and Austria.

Several of the public buildings were set on fire by the exploding shells, but the flames have been extinguished. The announcement says that Belgrade fortress was reduced to ruins. The latest reports indicate that there were few casualties among the troops, but a number of noncombatants were wounded. Several Austrian soldiers were killed by Servian sharpshooters during the passage of the river.

M. Andrevitch, head of one of the most important bank systems of the country, was seriously hurt when the building containing his office was wrecked.

TELLS OF FALL OF BELGRADE

By STEVEN BURNETT.

Boston American Staff Correspondent.

VIENNA, July 30.—Belgrade has fallen. The Austro-Hungarian war office announced today that the Servian capital was occupied late yesterday.

The capture of Belgrade was preceded by a heavy bombardment, Austrian gunboats on the Danube hurling hundreds of shells into the city to drive out a small force of Serbs, who fired upon the soldiers constructing a pontoon bridge to provide for the passage of the invading troops. This was rendered necessary because

COMPARISON OF GIANTS AT WAR OVER TINY SERVIA

The threatened war in Europe is like a battle of giants over a grain of barley. Servia is the grain, the Triple Entente and the Triple Alliance are the giants.

Here are figures that give an idea of the ridiculous contrast between the immensity of the possible conflict and the cause:

THE POSSIBLE COMBATANTS.

		Population.	Area, Sq. Miles.	Battleships.	Navy Personnel.	Army.
Triple Entente.	British Empire	435,000,000	12,000,000	49	127,500	730,000

SERVIAN MINISTER SEES AUSTRIAN VICTORY

NEW YORK, July 30.—Servian societies throughout the United States, representing a Servian population of over 100,000, have sent telegrams to Professor Michael I. Pupin, the Servian representative in this country, that at a moment's notice they would begin recruiting an army to go back to the mother country and fight against the Austrians.

"I have had no official communication from my country that war is actually in force," said Professor Pupin. "All the news has been from the newspapers. The hatred of our people here for Austria is most intense and they are eager to go back to Europe and avenge themselves."

Professor Pupin declared that Russia was the real cause of the conflict, claiming that Russia, through Austria, wanted to get possession of the outlet to the Aegean Sea, as also does Germany.

"I fear that if the war assumes real proportions," he continued, "it looks as if Austria will win and get the Aegean Sea outlet, only to turn it over to Russia."

"AUSTRIA WRONG IN DEMANDS ON SERVIA," SAYS SAMUEL J. ELDER

Samuel J. Elder, who represented this country at The Hague fisheries dispute, declares Austria is in the wrong in her dispute with Servia.

He calls attention to the fact that Servia was in the right in not acceding to the demands of Austria that officials from the latter country should become prosecutors and judges within Servian territory.

"It would be as if, for example, Great Britain wanting to send her attorneys to this country to try cases in our courts," declared Mr. Elder.

"It's an old saying that a warcloud in the Balkans changes the price of wheat in Chicago, and this is emphatically true. The prospect of a war in Europe sent the price of wheat up ten cents and demoralized the stock market.

"When a considerable number of the people of the earth are removed from production and become excessive consumers, the immediate result is an increase in the cost of living, which affects the entire world.

"The waste of war is never confined to the nations engaged in it, but is widespread. Here and there an industry is helped, but the sum total is calamity.

"Austria having declined to refer to The Hague even the single question which Servia did not absolutely accede to, the Tribunal of The Hague is powerless to intervene. Under its provisions any signatory power may remind nations likely to become belligerent that The Hague Tribunal is open for their disputes. This Great Britain did in the highest interests of peace and Austria rejected the proposal.

"It is of course profoundly to be hoped that the war will be localized and not involve all Europe. However much we may regret the ebullition of a small nation by a greater, the hideous consequences of a general war between six of the great powers of Europe can leave us but one wish, and that one the hope for localizing the embroilment to the two powers principally involved.

"Of course this rests with Russia. If it is true that Austria has given assurances it will not seek annexation of territory as the result of the war, Russia may find it compatible with her dignity and safety to remain neutral. Otherwise her intervention seems highly probable. The result would be not merely fire and sword but the deluge."

AMERICAN STOCKS MAKE BIG GAINS IN LONDON MARKET

LONDON, July 30.—The stock market rebounded at the opening here today, and some big gains were made in the American stocks that were hardest hit during the panicky conditions earlier in the week.

B. & O. opened four points over yesterday's close, Atchison and Southern Pacific showed a three-point gain, Erie preferred was up 2½, Milwaukee 2, Kansas and Union Pacific 1, while the majority of the other American stocks showed fractional gains.

Another brokerage house failure was announced at the opening. Toward noon the market became quiet. The American securities that had shown increases at the beginning held about steady around the opening market. British consols sold at 70.

The other European markets were reported in a stagnant condition and pervaded by an air of gloom over the situation.

The market was panicky at the close and sharp declines were in evidence. The losses for the day in all stocks were heavy.

BULLETINS

TUMULT ON WHEAT.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Wildest excitement characterized the opening on the Board of Trade here and throughout the Central West today. September wheat opened at 93 to 91, a gain of 5 points. December advanced from 5 to 7 points right on the jump and July was up 4¼. May soon touched 102. St. Louis dispatch showed wheat was from 4½ to 6 cents above yesterday's close, while similar advance were shown in Kansas City, Minneapolis and Duluth. At Winnipeg, October wheat advanced from 6 to 6½ cents and December 6 cents.

The advance in wheat continued and thirty minutes after the opening July wheat was 6¾ above yesterday's close. December 7 cents better and September 6½ higher. Corn and oats were dominated by the action of wheat and were higher.

BRITISH WAR MOVE.

NEW YORK, July 30.—A private dispatch from a well-informed source in England states tha: the British reserves have been ordered mobilized and the Cunard liner Aquitania ordered to Portsmouth for government service.

HOPE FOR PEACE.

LONDON, July 30.—An Exchange Telegraph Company dispatch from Berlin says:

"The government is reluctant to order mobilization of the army. There is still hope of peace."

FLOUR SOARING.

LIVERPOOL, July 30.—The rise in flour continued in the grain market today. The product went up 24 cents a sack, making 84 cents rise in three days.

DISCOUNT RATE UP.

LONDON, July 30.—The Bank of England's discount rate was raised to 4 per cent. today on account of the money stringency caused by the war. The rate had been 3 per cent. since January 29 last.

PARIS, July 30.—The Bank of France today raised its discount rate ½ per cent.

DUTCH ARE NEUTRAL.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, July 30.—The Dutch government today officially announced that it would remain absolutely neutral during the Austro-Servian war.

FLEETS MOBILIZE.

SHANGHAI, July 30.—The British Far Eastern fleet is mobilizing at Wei-Hai-Wei. The German fleet is mobilizing at Tsing-Tao, 200 miles to the south.

ARTILLERY DUEL

ST. PETERSBURG, July 30.—A dispatch from Nish reports that an artillery battle has begun near Kiaznioy-Smederevo, 20 miles from Belgrade.

CLOSE BOURSE.

VIENNA, July 30.—The Bourse today suspended all stock exchange business.

WAR OFFICE DENIES STORY OF CALL FOR BRITISH RESERVES

LONDON, July 30.—The war office issued a denial this afternoon that the reserves were called out. It was stated that such a movement would be an act of mobilization. Troops at various points, however, have been called out to carry out the precautionary measures adopted by Great Britain in the present crisis. The admiralty also denied the story, which it was stated probably arose from the announcement that the first line reserves had been ordered to send in their addresses to local headquarters.

HOPES OF POWERS FROM PRESENT CRISIS

The ambitions of the European powers in the present crisis are:

Austria—Annexation of Servia and union of all southern Slavs under the Hapsburg crown; extension of Dual Monarchy to Aegean Sea.

Germany—Postponement of the "Slav peril" for a generation; in case of a general war, extension of German commercial interests with only Great Britain as a formidable rival.

Italy—Support by Germany and Austria in her policy of African expansion.

Russia—Extension of empire to the Carpathians on the southwest, possibly the seizure of Posen and East and West Prussia, occupation of Constantinople; establishmen of Russia as undisputed dominant power in eastern Europe.

France—Removal of German menace; lessening of the terrible expense of unequal military competition with her neighbor; opportunity to develop her North African empire; recovery of lost provinces of Alsace and Lorraine.

Great Britain—Maintenance of balance of power in Europe; maintenance of British commercial and naval supremacy; preservation of her colonial possessions.

Roosevelt Will Not Discuss Candidacy

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 30.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt today declined to discuss the visit of Ormsby McHarg, who, it is said, informed the colonel that he was looming up as the Republican-Progressive candidate for President in 1916. McHarg is said to have told the colonel if he wins with his candidate in the governorship that he will be in a position to line over the G. O. P. leadership in the State and would be the one man to bring the two factions together.

UNITED STATES NOT TO ISSUE DECLARATION OF NEUTRALITY YET

WASHINGTON, July 30.—This government will not issue a declaration of neutrality, until the crisis in European affairs has involved some country other than Servia and Austria-Hungary. Counsellor Lansing of the State Department today ruled that a declaration of neutrality is not necessary until at least two maritime countries are at war with each other.

SAMARITAN PAYS RENT FOR PASTOR IN WANT

Rev. J. J. Arnaud, the Congregational minister of No. 25 Fabin street, whose wife is taking in washing till he gets a pulpit, has been helped by several persons to pay his rent. He has also been offered the charges of a church in Vermont, but has no money to get there, and his wife will continue her ironing and washing till funds are raised for this purpose.

"Some one came into my home yesterday and paid my rent of two dollars a week," said the minister. "I'm glad to get this off my mind for a week. Now if I could get a pulpit and steady employment, I would soon get out of this fix. I really need shoes and a new suit. But I want to work for them."

Mrs. Arnaud, who had been working today from early morning at the iron board, replied when asked how she was getting along: "I haven't the time to think about now. We've just got a dollar's worth of provisions from some one, but my husband hates to get anything this way. It is making him sick. He wants to work. Oh, the rent, the rent; I know why people worry over the rent."

At Congregational headquarters, No. 12 Beacon street, it is denied that Pastor Arnaud is a minister of the Congregational order. His name does not appear in the list of ministers.

Rev. Arthur J. Colville, who has charge of the registration of the ministers said:

"We've no such minister by that name on our list. We certainly would not have any of our ministers suffer like Mr. Arnaud."

When Mr. Arnaud was questioned about his name not being on the list he said: "I had a church up to long; they have omitted my name. Some of them say that I have not been regularly ordained by that church. I was ordained by the Rev. Mr. Dunsman of that church many years ago."

Hopes are held for the recovery of Ailena Lawrence, the nurse whose skull was fractured in a head- on collision between the automobile in which she was riding and an electric car on Main street, Medford. Dr. William F. Wesselhoef of 398 Marlboro street, Boston, physician for Mrs. John T. Chase, whom Miss Lawrence had nursed safely through a critical illness, was advised of the accident and hurried to the Malden Hospital to his nurse's assistance. Miss Lawrence, weary and worn after a twenty-four-hour vigil at Mrs. Chase's bedside, had been invited to ride home by her patient's husband in his automobile.

Miss Lawrence was graduated from the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital Training School for Nurses in 1913. Her parents in St. Albans, Vt., have been advised of her injury and are on their way to Boston.

The chauffeur, H. Towle of Melrose, and Mr. Chase, the two other occupants of the automobile, escaped without injury, while Miss Lawrence received a fracture of the frontal bone of the skull, and internal injuries. She was a longer at 276 Newbury street, Boston. Her patient, now convalescent, will be removed today to her home, No. 24 Cedar Park, Melrose.

Nance O'Neil Guest of Honor at Hyannis

Miss Nance O'Neil, who is spending the Summer at Centrefield, will be the guest of honor and make the opening address at the open-air performance of "Faust," to be given at Hyannis baseball park tomorrow evening for the benefit of the Students' Loan Fund of the Hyannis State Normal School. Miss Barbara Cook, daughter of President Irving W. Cook of the Hyannis National Bank, will dedicate the performance by unfurling the American flag.

Tar Man Said to Have Beaten Aged Mother

BELFAST, Me., July 30.—Charles Fogg, a sixty-year-old farmer of Monroe village, was stripped and given a coat of tar in his own kitchen by a band of men who declared that he had beaten his eighty-four-year-old mother. Today Fogg had Guy L. Twombley in the local police court charged with being one of his assailants. Twombley was held in $200 and the case was continued.

Twins Twice for Woman Within a Single Year

SOUTH NORWALK, Ct., July 30.—It is believed by local doctors that Mrs. Michael Ross of this place holds the nativity record of the State, having given birth to four children inside of one year. Mrs. Ross, fifty-one, became the mother of twin boys today and eleven months ago she presented her husband with twin girls.

BANDAGE OVER WEDDING RING KEPT SECRET

The secret being out, Mrs. Philip A. Dolaher has just discarded that deceiving bandage on her wedding finger.

She was formerly Miss Isabel Owens, efficient head stenographer at the Shoe and Leather Reporter office, No. 166 Essex street. About a month ago she took her vacation, a little longer one than usual. She told the other girls demurely that she guessed she would go up in New Hampshire.

On her return recently the other girls noticed a neat bandage on the third finger of her left hand.

"Poison ivy?"

"No."

"Mosquito bite?"

"Oh, no, just a little cut, that's all."

This went along for several days until one of the other stenographers happened in the wash room just in time to spy Miss Owens washing her hands, with the bandage laid one side and a wedding ring gleaming on the "cut" finger.

Then "Miss Owens" fessed up. She admitted that she is now Mrs. Philip A. Dolaher. Mr. Dolaher is a letter carrier at Station A. He has lived at No. 45 East Dedham street, South End.

LONDON NOW REGARDS A GENERAL EUROPEAN CONFLICT AS INEVITABLE

DIPLOMATIC EXPERTS TAKE A GLOOMY VIEW

By HERBERT TEMPLE.
SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE AMERICAN IN LONDON

LONDON, July 30.—A great European war seems inevitable today. Sensational developments over night have practically destroyed hopes that arose late yesterday. It is probable that two or three days more will decide the issue.

Briefly told, these are the developments that brought pessimism to the diplomatic observers of the situation:

1—Berlin dispatches stating that Germany is mobilizing her forces on the eastern frontier and has notified her reserves to be prepared for immediate call.

2—Official notification by Russia that she has ordered the "partial mobilization of 1,120,000 men." St. Petersburg has also summoned more than 1,000,000 reserves to the colors.

3—Invasion of Servia by Austrian troops and the bombardment of Belgrade.

The situation became so tense this forenoon that reports were in general circulation that the British government had ordered the mobilization of its army and navy.

To quiet these reports the War Office issued an official denial saying:

"No mobilization orders have been issued to the military forces or the navy. The government is taking only precautionary defensive measures."

ANXIETY IN LONDON.

The denial of the reports failed to relieve the fears in any great measure, however. In some quarters the anxiety was even increased by the admission that "precautionary defensive measures" were considered necessary.

With dispatches from Vienna and Berlin announcing the bombardment and capture of Belgrade, the next step of the Austro-Hungary government was anxiously waited today. It was regarded as a possibility that if the invading forces were held back from further progress into Servia the Russian government might be appeased and restrained from interference.

Despite the rigorous censorship existing throughout the war area of the Balkans, dispatches filtered through confirming the opening of hostilities. The Exchange Telegraph Company's Vienna correspondent announced that Belgrade had been captured. The Berlin Tageblatt's correspondent sent a message confirming this report, while from Salonica came advices saying many buildings had been destroyed or set on fire by Austrian shells.

LITTLE WAR ENTHUSIASM.

As the day wore on in London great crowds congregated about the bulletin boards watching for the latest bulletins on the war crisis. The dispatches gave little or no assurance, practically the only one holding out hope coming from Berlin. This stated that the German government was reluctant about ordering mobilization and that there was still hope of peace.

Shortly before St. Petersburg dispatches declared that the entire Russian army had been mobilized. This evoked some cheers, but the crowds generally were not enthusiastic.

Meanwhile great activity was displayed at the war office and admiralty. Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, conferred with a number of attaches of the naval service and many messages relating to the movements of the British ships were placed on his desk.

A number of foreign envoys called on Sir Edward Grey during the forenoon and he was several times interrupted in work on a statement which he was preparing for presentation to Parliament giving the government views on the European crisis.

STATEMENT BY GREY.

Sir Edward Grey, in reply to Bonar Law, in the House of Commons today said: "There is very little I can say. I regret that I cannot say that the situation is less grave than it was yesterday, but the outstanding facts are much the same. Austria has begun war against Russia; Russia has ordered a partial mobilization which has not hitherto led to any corresponding steps by other powers so far as our information goes. We will continue to pursue one great object—preservation of European peace, and for this purpose we are keeping in close touch with the other powers.

"So thus keeping in touch we have, I am glad to say, had no difficulty so far, though it has not been possible for the powers to join in the diplomatic action as I proposed on Monday.

"In diplomatic quarters it was stated that everything now depends on Germany's reply to yesterday's proposal that she suggest some diplomatic way out of the present difficulty, which would meet with the approval of Austria-Hungary. This reply is expected at any moment. As one diplomatic sumed it up:

"Everything depends upon the kaiser. If he wishes it there will be peace."

BRITISH AIRSHIPS KEEP WATCH OVER SHIPPING ON THAMES

TILBURY, England, July 30.—Two aeroplanes piloted by British naval officers flitted through the air over Tilbury and Purfleet today, keeping careful watch over the great docks here and all shipping on the Thames. At Purfleet, where the government oil tanks are located, two guns have been mounted on the high bank of the river to guard against hostile air craft.

SALE OF WARSHIPS DOES NOT AFFECT NEUTRALITY OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The sale of the battleships Idaho and Mississippi to Greece cannot be regarded by friendly European powers as a breach of neutrality on the part of the United States, should general hostilities come in Europe, officials of the state and navy departments asserted today. The fact that the Mississippi, recriminated the Kilkis, still is in American waters does not change this status, it was said. Secretary of the Navy Daniels holds that deal consummated when the check for $12,600,000 was paid by W. A. Gauntlett, representing Greece. The Kilkis now is being fitted out at Newport News, having been turned over to Gauntlett three weeks ago. The battleship could sail within a week if necessary, it was said.

The Idaho was turned over to the Greeks at Villa Franche and the contingent of midshipmen cruising on her was transferred to the battleship Maine.

VANDERLIP SAYS WAR MEANS WORLD ECONOMIC WASTE

NEW YORK, July 30.—Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, says: "There might be some little increase in the demand for American products in case of a general European war, but the great loss to capital that would result and the tremendous economic waste, would be felt all over the world. If we get higher prices for our products abroad the people in this country must pay the increased prices."

"According to the newspapers there are about 1,000,000 foreigners subject to army draft in this country. To lose them would be an economic loss. Our financial position here is very sound. Of course, we cannot go on shipping gold to Europe indefinitely at the present rate, but the situation here is sound."

Withdrawing from the city under the heavy fire of the Austrians, the Servians fell back to Vichnitza, about three miles from the capital. There the Serb troops had thrown up fortifications and placed three batteries. The Austrian artillery brought across the Danube and Save rivers shelled the Servian positions.

Europe's War Cloud Is Still Black

LONDON, July 30.—No immediate hope of a settlement of the difficulties was held out by Sir Edward Grey's statement in the House of Commons. He said:

I regret I am unable to say the European situation is better than yesterday. The outstanding facts are much the same. The British government has continued its efforts to keep European peace, keeping touch with the powers, with whom whom there has been no difficulty thus far, but the suggested conference has not been decided upon.

RUSSIA ORDERS MOBILIZATION OF OVER A MILLION MEN

NOTIFIES POWERS OF VAST WAR MOVEMENT

ST. PETERSBURG, July 30.—The Russian government officially notified Austria and Germany today that she had ordered the partial mobilization of fourteen army corps. These corps number 1,120,000 men.

With the definite announcement of the breaking off of diplomatic relations between Russia and Austria the first official statement of Russia's attitude and purpose in the great war crisis was made exclusively to the AMERICAN correspondent here today.

The statement was signed by J. L. Goremykine, president of the Council of the Empire, and was as follows:

Russia is determined not to allow Servia to be crushed, and will fulfil its duty in regard to that small kingdom, which has already suffered so much at Austria's hands.

Russia will not be frightened by threats Austria may address to her. She knows her obligations to her Slav brethren in the Balkans and will not consent to Servia being turned into an Austrian vassal.

The European equilibrium demands that the Slav Kingdom shall retain its independence, which Russia will uphold to the end.

To this effect she will take all the measures gravity of the situation requires, so as to be able successfully to defeat Austria's intrigues.

Russia is mobilizing 1,250,000 men on the Austrian frontier and has today called all her reservists to the colors.

The refusal of Austria to enter into negotiations with Russia over Servia led to the break in diplomatic relations.

An imperial manifesto is expected from the Czar today.

Nicholas himself is expected to become generalissimo of the forces, and in anticipation of this all political parties have sunk their differences.

TOTAL OF 2,000,000 MEN.

An imperial ukase has been issued summoning to the colors the reservists of twenty-three entire governments and seventy-one districts of eleven other governments; part of the reservists of nine districts of four governments; naval reservists of seventy-four districts of twelve Russian governments and one Finnish government.

The Cossacks, whose military service has expired in the territories of Don, Kuban, Terek, Astrakhan, Orenburg and Ural have also been summoned.

With these forces on a war footing Russia will have more than 2,000,000 men in the field. The officers necessary for the reserves have been notified to report to their stations immediately.

The medical service of the entire army has been placed on a war footing. Surgeons and nurses have been gathered and the necessary horses and vehicles have been requisitioned.

With Czar Nicholas presiding, a meeting of the entire cabinet was held at Peterhoff today. This meeting was regarded as the most important one in the history of modern Russia, and official announcement as to the deciding reached there was awaited with interest and anxiety.

The danger of the situation was considered so great by the financiers that it was decided to keep the stock exchange closed until Saturday.

The government has revoked the law forbidding Jews and foreigners operating financially in Russia or participating in shareholders' companies.

Russia's uncompromising yet polite attitude toward England and other pacific powers was merely a pretext to gain time.

It is no secret that three weeks are necessary to put her huge army on a war footing, but preparations have been carried on so swiftly that the general staff is confident it can be ready considerably earlier. Russia's firm note to Austria followed immediately news of the bombardment of Belgrade.

MAY HAVE CROSSED FRONTIER.

Had the Servian troops obtained a first success over Austria, Russia might have relented, but probabilities are now that Russian troops may already have crossed the frontier and invaded Galacia.

The Czar's firm resolution is to do away once and forever with Austria's pretensions at exclusive right in the Balkans, a kind of Monroo Doctrine of her own founding.

Therefore, a conflict between the two big groups of European powers seems today inevitable. This great struggle of the Slav and Teutonic influences threatens to unroot vivid was the utter lack of foresight of half the statesmen in Europe.

The rough and ready patchwork of European diplomacy, which the Triple Alliance and the Triple Entente represent, has brought England, France and Italy to the verge of the worst war in history in behalf of the same cause, which in reality is as great a menace to them as to Germany and Austria.

KAISER MAY LEAD TROOPS IN BATTLE

By FREDERICK WERNER.

BERLIN, July 30.—Every arsenal and military depot in Germany is working to the limit today. Russia's mobilization of troops is believed to be complete, though the Czar's government is endeavoring to hide this fact. This will give him no advantage, however, for Germany is ready and waiting for the call to battle.

Important code dispatches were received at the Foreign Office from St. Petersburg today and immediately transmitted to Emperor William. He remained at Potsdam, but it is understood in well informed circles that if general war breaks out he will take personal command of the German army and show that he is "War Lord" in fact as well as in name.

German officials carefully refrained today from commenting on the report that diplomatic relations between Austria and Russia had been broken off.

EFFORTS FOR PEACE.

There was a spirit of grim determination evident in all government circles, but the soft pedal was put on to prevent any wild utterances by officials that would further imperil the chances of peace.

"Germany's efforts are directed toward peace and we want peace," said one attache. "We must respect our treaty obligations, however."

He referred to the treaty with Austria.

Another indication of the dangerous situation was given today when Russia sent all her telegrams by way of Copenhagen and Stockholm instead of via Berlin. This has never happened before except under extraordinary conditions.

Russia is known to be concentrating her warships in home waters. For this purpose it has cancelled the visit of the Baltic squadron to Copenhagen.

The harbor at Riga has been closed with mines, but merchant vessels are allowed to enter if proted by a government employe.

CHEERS FOR THE KAISER.

By 2 o'clock this afternoon the street in front of every newspaper in the capital was packed with crowds seeking to learn whether mobilization would be ordered today. Every mention of the Kaiser in the bulletins posted in the windows was greeted with wild cheers.

The Socialist agitators, who attempted to address one gathering in the interest of their anti-war propaganda, were mobbed. Efforts were made to lynch them, but the police rescued both after most of their clothing had been torn off.

There were processions through many streets with students in the lead. Men and women joined in singing patriotic airs. Late this afternoon Count de Saxeyeny-Marick, the Austrian ambassador, called at the foreign office and was closeted with Herr Von Jagow for some time. He was observed when he left and returned to his own residence.

The Foreign Office issued the following statement this afternoon:

"Germany has taken decisive steps in St. Petersburg, Paris and other Eastern capitals within the past hour, the results of which will determine the issue of war or peace. Germany has faithfully kept the peace and the reports of the mobilization of German troops have been premature .Germany has made no war move. The only steps taken have been in the direction of peace. Now the Fatherland must decide upon measures calculated to meet the dangerous situation resulting from Russia's activity on the frontier."

AUSTRIA ANNOUNCES DEFIANCE TO RUSSIA

VIENNA, July 30.—"Austria will not allow Russia to interfere with our purposes toward Servia."

This official statement was made today by an attache of the Austro-Hungarian foreign office. He reiterated Austria's intention to punish the Serbs, but asserted that his government had no wish to acquire territory.

"Servia's reply to our ultimatum was full of evasions and reservations," he said, "and did not concede the essential guarantees.

"Austria has no desire for territory. She wants only peace and punishment of the Servians for encouraging the anti-Austrian agitation. Austria will not allow Russia to interfere with these ends."

Emperor Francis Joseph returned to the capital from Budapest today. He was cheered by a great crowd that filled the streets through which he passed to the capital.

He held a long conference with Count Berchtold, the foreign minister, and later received General Krobatkin the war minister. It is possible that the Emperor will go to Budapest, which is nearer the scene of hostilities.

The armies are to be under command of General Baron Von Hoetzendorf, chief of the general staff. The army invading Servia is commanded by Field Marshal Potterek.

ACTING MINISTER FROM FRANCE TELLS OF WAR SITUATION

By ALBERT PROPPER.

Rene Clausse, Acting Minister of France to the United States, when seen at his Manchester home in regard to the Austro-Servian war, said:

"Russia will not fire a shot or use any other violence unless Austria shows signs of intention to annex Servian soil. But the moment such an intention is evident, Russia will step in, and if Russia does, then France must join, under the terms of the treaty between the countries. But even now overtures at peace between the contending nations are made, and Russia and France are doing everything in their power to encourage peace that would be advantageous to the contending parties and the world."

"Will France look for land?—Alsace Lorraine?"

"It is horrible to think what will arise. I suppose that will come in as one of the small incidents. But we believe it the duty of all governments to insist that the war remain localized.

"It is always bad to look too far ahead, for then things look gloomy, and at best it amounts only to constructing hypothetical theses, and the material is bad enough as it is, without making imaginary or hypothetical world-destruction problems.

"There is a war party in every country, and it is only a matter of fortune and accident. The war party got the ascendancy in Mexico, and in Servia, and now the aged Emperor of Austria, who had advised peace, was induced to fall in for war, because the ambitious party got the ascendancy, and he was easily imposed upon, because, not only his son, but because of the Serajevo incident.

"EMPEROR VERY PATIENT."

"Francis Joseph has been very patient. He has a very strange country to rule, not made of one people, but of so many, and in such trouble must he expected, for they are constantly exposed to it. It is hard to rule even one nation with one system of procedure and one government; he has as many as a score of nations to contend with.

"The Slave—why, it is perfectly natural that they should lean toward their own kinsmen, and yield to Slav influence. In that respect Austria is in a very great difficulty, except for Hungary. Hungary may have her troubles with Austria, but for extraneous purposes Austria and Hungary are one."

The Honorable Ernest Scott, First Secretary of the Legation of Great Britain and Acting Minister while Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice is in the old country, commenting on the Austro-Servian affair, briefly said:

ENGLISH OPINION.

"I do not know of any reason why England should become interested in the conflict. It is true that Servia does a great deal of trade in England, and that in preference to Austria, but we have customers as great as Servia, and she does not amount to enough as a customer to fall out about.

"As for the entente with Russia, it is more frail than people think. To begin with, it is not even in writing. We had a little friction with Russia until 1904. It was about naval matters, but they were irritating and they had to be disposed of. They were almost insignificant things, but they were much talked about and magnified, so we had an understanding about them."

Correct Way to Treat Skin Diseases

Both air and warm seem to have a bad effect upon skin diseases like eczema, of which there are many forms. Keeping out the water and air is the first thing to do. By using Cadum, the well-known remedy for skin diseases, air and water are excluded, because Cadum contains petrolatum and white wax, and these form a tight covering over the sore places upon the skin. Cadum also contains oil of cade, which has been successfully used many years by the medical profession in the treatment of Eczema and other skin trouble. If your skin is inflamed, irritated or sore, get a 10c box of Cadum of your druggist and try it. The 25c size box contains nearly four times as much as the 10c size and is cheaper to buy.

ASQUITH IN HOME RULE PLEA

LONDON, July 30.—A remarkable appeal for the sinking of differences over home rule for Ireland and for the complete union of Great Britain in the present crisis was made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Premier Asquith, when he announced that the home rule bill would not be taken up at today's session.

"The issues of peace and war are hanging in the balance," he said, "and with them risk of a catastrophe which it is impossible to measure either in dimensions or defects. It is vitally important to the whole world that England, which has no interests at stake, should present a united front and we able to speak with the authority of an undivided nation.

"The amending bill is therefore postponed in the hope that the patriotism of all parties will contribute at last to circumscribe the calamities that threaten the world."

SOUTH SHORE RUSHES TO SEE ROMANCE

IPSWICH BELLE WILL WED THE REV. PAUL G. MACY

Miss Blanche Swan, who takes a leading part in "Priscilla," the Plymouth historic opera.

Tomorrow will be an interesting day for South Shore society, since at Plymouth the long-anticipated pageant of "Priscilla" is then to be enacted. One of the leading figures will be Miss Blanche Swan, who takes a prominent part in the dance ensemble, entitled "The Battle of the Roses." The affair will be repeated Saturday. The opera is a faithful portrayal of the life and mannerisms of the Pilgrims and the romance of John Alden and Priscilla is prettily woven in.

The cast has, as far as possible, been chosen from the direct descendants of the old Pilgrim families.

There is to be a chorus of over 150 voices from the best amateur talent of Plymouth and surrounding towns. More than two hundred will appear in the opera. The title role will be sung by Miss Helen Whitney. Arthur Broughton is to play the part of John Alden and Frank P. Daniels will take the part of Miles Standish.

Others in the cast include Barbara Standish, Miss Marcia Brown, Miss Lena M. Terry, Miss Ruth Scully, Miss Mildred Holmes, Vincent Buchanan, G. Webster Dyer and Howard Morton.

Judging from the present outlook the debutantes are to have a decidedly gay time of it the coming Winter, and already several important balls have been decided upon, as well as their dates. One of the largest will be that which Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, 2d, are to give on the night of December 4, when they will present their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Mason Paine, who will without a doubt be one of the leaders of the exclusive young set.

Miss Paine's younger sister is Miss Ruth Paine. Her brothers are Walter C. and Richard C. Paine, who are students at Harvard. The Paines are now at their Summer home, "Kettle Cliff," Coolidge Point, Manchester.

Count Apponyi Weds American Belle in a Romance of War

PARIS, July 30.—A nocturnal wedding between Miss Gladys Virginia Stewart, daughter of the Countess de Strale Dekna, member of an old family of the Southern States, and Count Julius Apponyi of the great Hungarian family, was brought about last night by the Austro-Servian war.

The couple had planned to marry in Geneva August 5, but Count Apponyi received telegraphic summons to join his regiment at Budapest and immediately go to the front. Thereupon the wedding was decided upon.

Mrs. Fish Protests Stories of Expenses

NEWPORT, R. I., July 30.—Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish has taken a strong stand against reports occasionally sent to newspapers from Newport mentioning what the entertainments cost the host and hostess.

"Last year," said Mrs. Fish, "I gave the fairy rhyme ball at Crossways, and some of the newspapers estimated my expenditures out of all proportion. Entertainments at Newport are less expensive than newspaper readers have been led to believe. Such reports, I believe, are injurious to Newport.

TO SAVE EYES

Is the Object of This Free Prescription—try It If Your Eyes Give You Trouble.

Thousands of people suffer from eye troubles because they do not know what to do. They know some good home remedy for every other minor ailment, but none for their eye troubles. The neglect their eyes because the trouble is not sufficient to drive them to an eye specialist, who would, anyway, charge them a heavy fee. As a last resort they go to an optician or to the five and ten-cent store, and oftentimes get glasses that they do not need, or which, after being used two or three months, do their eyes more injury than good. Here is a simple prescription that every one should use:

5 grains Optona.
2 ounces Water.

Use three or four times a day to bathe the eyes. This prescription and the simple Optona system keeps the eyes clean, sharpens the vision and quickly overcomes inflammation and irritation; weak, watery, overworked, tired eyes and other similar troubles are greatly benefited and oftentimes cured by its use. Many reports show that wearers of glasses have discarded them after a few weeks' use. It is good for the eyes, contains no irritant which would injure the most sensitive eyes of an infant or the aged. Any druggist can fill this prescription promptly. Try it and know for once what real eye comfort is.

Mothers with small babies know how much washing there is to be done.

Mrs. Brightley Adds Her Praise for Fels-Naptha

Mrs. Brightley—"Just a minute, Anty Drudge, I want to run up and look at baby, then I'll come and sit down for a while and talk to you. I must tell you how quickly and easily I do my work since I've been using Fels-Naptha Soap."

Anty Drudge—"I saw a big wash out drying as I came in and thought you'd finished early. Fels-Naptha Soap's the thing to use."

If you do it the old way, with hot water and hard rubbing, the dainty little dresses and soft flannels are soon going to be ruined.

Use Fels-Naptha Soap—cool or lukewarm water, and do not boil. Put your soiled things to soak for a while; Fels-Naptha Soap will go to work on the dirt, and when you are ready to give the clothes a rub or two with your hands, the dirt will just fall right out. The "Fels-Naptha Way" takes less time, less work and less strength.

Dissolves grease, removes stains, cleans everything cleanable.

Follow the directions on the Red and Green Wrapper.

Better buy Fels-Naptha by the carton or box.

SOX ANXIOUS TO REPEAT WIN OVER CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 30.—Those Red Sox were jubilant today, for they figured they had broken the jinx and the hoodoo which has hovered over them in their recent series with the White Sox.

That last inning, 3 to 1, turned out a wholesome victory, and one that is shown in the performance columns. Chicago was the one club in the West that worried them. In the nine games played before the six-battle-ax between the two clubs, which the pennant-seeking Sox won, they had been victorious in but two.

"Now we can get out of town in good style, watch us climb," said the Sox manager.

Well, that figure that with the first game there that they will get better than an even break. Which accounts for their jubilation.

BUSY DAY FOR LANNIN.

It was laughable to watch Eddie Collins coaching to Tris Speaker in yesterday's game.

Speaker drove out three hits and one was a triple. Collette couldn't string anything of a deceptive nature when Tris was up there. Consequently Speaker got himself on base with three balls and then he'd move the sphere whereupon Lannin gave the ball a ride.

The minor league magnates certainly are giving President Lannin a touch of high life. Ever since the news went abroad that the Boston magnate had given $25,000 in real money for three ball players the club owners in the minors have figured him easy money.

The magnate receives telegrams at the ball park and he has mail when he returns to the hotel. There is scarcely an hour passes that he doesn't have an opportunity of purchasing the best pitcher in the minors.

He can recruit an infield before lunch and organize an outfield before dinner. He can get together the best staff of pitchers in the game while having a beer and it doesn't have to be an extra long one at that.

GREGG HAS TRYOUT.

Those minors certainly are on the job of that club. The fellows on the Boston team are did pay a lot of attention to Vean Gregg in yesterday's game.

The southpaw went through with only one bad inning, the fifth, when an Athletic indie got to him for four hits and a trio of runs.

Those tallies is about all they would have secured had the fielding been sharp. Gregg didn't look as good as he has on occasions in his first start, but there wasn't anything bad his work to indicate that he wasn't there.

The thing that appealed to Carrigan was the spirit displayed by his new twirler. Gregg joined when the Red Sox left Cleveland. He wasn't invited out of the depot until Vean wanted to pitch the first game at Chicago.

"A fellow that does that is right," said Carrigan.

LUCK AGAINST RED SOX.

Those Red Sox certainly furnished entertainment for the fans who like to see lots of hitting. Chet and Clentte and Falser, who succeeded the former Foston twirler, for sixteen hits and four runs were credited to a whistle.

Had the Boston lads possessed any luck on hands there would have been no ten innings game. It would have been over in nine and the score wouldn't have been close.

Baseball Peace Near, Says Pres. Barrow

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 30.—President of the baseball situation with dent E. J. Barrow of the International League, who is here to talk Jacob J. Stein, head of the Buffalo club, says there's no serious element of the baseball war effected this Winter.

Deals were not forthcoming, but Mr. Barrow took the view that settlements is the logical outcome of the present turmoil.

Asked about the talk of reconstructing the International into a big league, Mr. Barrow said developments are uncertain.

ADDISON HANAN MAY SAIL CUP YACHT VANITIE

By HARRY C. THOMAS.

NEW YORK, July 30.—William Gardner, the New York designer of the cup yacht Vanitie which starts a series of races tomorrow with the Herreshoff sloop for the honor of being chosen to defend the America cup, caused a sensation today, when he declared that he did not think that the American cup committee of the New York Yacht Club was considering the Vanitie.

Gardner's remarks were plain and no Fiduciary lads got to him for four hits and a trio of runs.

Those tallies is about all they would have secured had the fielding been sharp. Gregg didn't look as good as he has on occasions in his first start, but there wasn't anything bad his work to indicate that he wasn't there.

The thing that appealed to Carrigan was the spirit displayed by his new twirler. Gregg joined when the Red Sox left Cleveland. He wasn't invited out of the depot until Vean wanted to pitch the first game at Chicago.

"A fellow that does that is right," said Carrigan.

Those Red Sox certainly furnished entertainment for the fans who like to see lots of hitting. Chet and Clentte and Falser, who succeeded the former Foston twirler, for sixteen hits and four runs were credited to a whistle.

$10,000 M. & M. Stake on Card Again Today

DETROIT, July 30.—With six heats raced yesterday without a winner the M. & M. $10,000 stake is again the feature today at the Grand Circuit meet here.

The race was the most sensational renewal of the event since Walter E. won the two-day affair twenty-four years ago.

Rhythmell had won the first heat, and then been distanced, when Linda Wrona lowered the record of the stake to 2:05¼, beating Peter Scott by a nose.

Peter Scott then won, but in the fourth Lassie McGregor outraced him, repeating in the fifth.

McCloskey, which then had no right to starts, won the sixth and was disqualified. It was the biggest mixup of the year.

Peter Scott, driven by Cox, went the hardest race of all. He forced Rhythmell out in the first and made Linda Wrona lower the record for the event to beat him in the second.

Peter won the third, but in the fourth he could not stall off the rush of the well-rested mare.

The speculation of the M. & M. was the heaviest in years. For hours men crowded around the auctioneers, while pools of upward of $1,500 were rattled off. The Cox entry, Peter Scott and Margaret Druien, was favorite at $600; Lassie McGregor brought $300, Ring Chaseman $250, McCloskey $200, The Guide $150, Hazel Laing and Mahonet Watts $75 each, Linda Wrona $50 and Rhythmell $25.

Surfman John Kenney, the crack long distance swimmer of the U. S. V. L. S. Corps, will be one of the contestants in the Nahant to Winthrop swim to be held August 23, under the auspices of the U. S. V. L. S. Corps, Winthrop division.

Kenney is conditioning himself for an attempt later on in the season to break the record from the Battery to Sandy Hook, N. Y. He will be accompanied by his trainer, Vice-Commodore J. H. Eagan, who successfully piloted him in record time for the course last season.

SIGN WALTHOUR FOR STAR RACE AT BEACH OVAL

Bobby Walthour, the Dixie flyer, has been signed to ride at the Revere cycle track next Saturday night in a twenty-five mile motor-paced race against George Wiley, America's middle distance champion. Worth Sitten and Percy Lawrence.

Walthour was scheduled to race at the Beach oval several weeks ago, but he was badly injured at Brighton Beach two nights previous and could not ride at Revere. He has just returned to the track and is riding better than ever.

Walthour will have his work cut out for him when he tackles Wiley, for the little champion is going in top form. Mitten also is beginning to show better in each race, and it seems as though it's about time to expect something from the Davenport boy.

A tandem race with Fred Herbert and John Barry teamed against Tom Connolly and Frank Dreben will fill out the card with the regular list of amateur and professional events.

The postponed races set for last evening were again put over.

BRAVES BATTLE CARDS IN FIGHT FOR PLACE

By NICK FLATLEY.

Today the Cardinals, Miller Huggins, Hub Perdue and his big bat, third place and other things too numerous to mention, make a bow at the South End Grounds.

One notch above the Braves, their lead a small matter of six games, the St. Louis tribe will be given a very busy reception. The Braves want to hop into third place.

As the Cardinals just now rest there, the best way the Braves can accomplish their desire is to take a few falls out of Huggins and Company.

HAVE EDGE ON THE CARDINALS.

They've been doing the same all season, and naturally should keep right on. The old dope held good against the Cubs, loftier in standing than the today's enemies, and there's no reason in the world why it should shift.

Especially as the Stellings are playing the same old bang-up, lick-em-all kind of game that shot them out of the cellar into the first division in the course of a couple of weeks.

Their battering tactics caused the Chicago defence to blow up yesterday. The same sort of assault won twelve out of sixteen out on the trails. It will keep boosting the per cent. figures to the future too, and unless all signs fail, a letup is as far away from the Brave batters as Doc Cook was from the North Pole.

TYLER OR COTTRELL TODAY.

Lefty Tyler, who has had a much needed rest, will likely be trotted out today to battle against a fellow southpaw in the person of Slim Sallee. Lefty has had an edge on about any southpaw in the league since the Braves bit their climbing gait, while Slim, also a portside performer, has not been a great way behind. There is a chance, though, that Cottrell, the new Baltimore acquisition, will be tried out.

Such being the thrilling facts of the matter, a good pitcher's battle should be the least of many features for as many thousands of fans as can get into the park. Near-capacity week days is strange for the Walpole Street lot, yet that's been the order since the team returned.

As the playing has justified the gatherings, and promises to continue in similar fashion, the gate receipts by the time the tribe heads for the road again are likely to smash all records.

The Cardinals hibernate — Anyone who was out yesterday will approve the use of the Whitry word—hereabouts for four days, and a local cleanup would mean a great deal. It would bring the Braves within a couple of games of the Huggins bunch, and incidentally make them beyond all doubt a big factor in the pennant race itself.

EVENS COMING ROUND.

Johnny Evers was out of the line-up yesterday, but his place was well filled by Whitted who pulled off a couple of star fielding stunts and hammered the ball in regular Ty Cobb fashion.

Johnny has a lame shoulder, caught a cold in it, but is coming round all right and will likely start doing out around the keystone sack. Even if he doesn't, there's no cause for regret, as his sub stood up under the strain yesterday like a regular old timer.

With last Saturday's overflow crowd in mind the Braves' management is pulling all sorts of strings to get Fenway Park for the coming half holiday pastime. There's sort of an anti-American League rule against the procedure, but on the face of things, it should be easy enough to suspend. The Yankees these days use the Polo Grounds and no wail whatever has been heard from the emigrant Ban Johnson. With the Red Sox field, the baffle team would just about now draw a Saturday crowd that would smash this season's records for Boston.

And as Secretary Nickerson puts it, it would give the players a chance to get a line on the angles before jumping into the world's series.

SOX SHAKE JINX.

Three cheers and a tiger. Out in the West the Red Sox finally succeeded in burying the Chicago jinx. They had to fight like pirates to do it, but they did. The jump should give them all the confidence in the world and fit them to speed up even a bit more and get out and out down that six and a half game lead of the Mackmen. Long may they wave.

The trade that let Johnson, Coumbe and Egan go to the Naps in exchange for Gregg has stirred up a hornet's nest in this part of the country. Opinion on the matter is about fifty-fifty.

From our angle, however, it looks like a great move for the Red Sox. Gregg is a seasoned veteran in point of service. If it comes down to last ditch grapple for the flag, he's very likely to be an ace in the hole.

Coumbe is a cracking fine pitcher, but he still has a lot to learn. In a long bitter fight, he would be very likely to crack just when most needed. In a year or two, if he lives up to his prospects, he should be one of the best pitchers in the league. But the Carrigans are after the 1914 pennant.

Johnson, in point of years, just as old as Gregg, showed no class at all against any but the Senator outfit. These days, one club pitchers are too expensive luxuries even for pennant contenders. Egan has been tried out before and lacks the class for the big show. Carrigan, well fortified in the pitching department, had no use for him.

FOSTER JOINS TEAM.

There was a lot of rumor flying about as to Gregg's bad arm. Yesterday though, he went in and pitched good ball, despite the fact that he was touched up a bit. His record for the season with a tail end club stamps him as good as ever. Which most players in the American League will admit is about as good as they come.

That there may be no slipup, from now on during the Carrigan cruise through the West, George Foster, the year's sensational right hander, has been added to the front. George was not taken on the trip, as he had not fully recovered from a wrenched knee sustained last month. The knee itself is almost as strong as ever, but the youngster had taken on a bit of weight while going through a course of hospital sprouts.

OVER THE PLATE

By NICK FLATLEY

NINTH inning finishes, or rather rallies, are getting to be an every-day occurrence with the Red Sox. Nothing shows better that a team is fighting than continued evidence of the never-say-die spirit. Four times running now the Carrigans have counted in the ninth frame, which is not bad, not at all bad. Yesterday also, Uncle Bill showed his nerve by shooting himself in to hit in a pinch in the tenth. He came through, too, with a whack that tied up the fray. Takes some nerve for a manager to use himself as a rescue man.

* * *

Captain Jawn Evers just at present is the victim of a lame right shoulder and consequently was out of the line-up yesterday. The peculiar thing about the injury is that Johnny has not the slightest idea how he acquired it. Monday night, the top of his salary wing began to ache and kept growing worse until yesterday he was in pretty bad shape. Dr. O'Brien, Brave trainer, opines that the second sacker has caught a slight cold. Also, that it will soon pass away.

* * *

One of the most ardent Brave "fans" yesterday was Miss Irene Gaffney, daughter of the club owner, who sat with her father and mother in the presidential box, and cheered strenuously every time a Boston star turned in a good play. When the last out was made and the Braves had been declared winners, Miss Gaffney appeared just as happy as her father, which is saying a whole lot, as these days the Boston owner, with a winning club on his hands, is quite an enthusiastic partisan.

* * *

In Coreham and Davis, Manager Stallings claims he has two of the most promising young pitchers ever loaned. Both chaps, according to the Brave dictator, have plenty of natural ability and will be heard from as soon as they learn the angles of the game.

"They're a pair of very nifty looking twirlers," Stallings said to us, "and after they get out of school—regular sessions held at morning practice—they'll be heard from."

* * *

BY far the most cocky member of the Braves is Leonard Johnny Evers. The Trojan can see no other team in the league but his own, and claims that when next the local bunch tackles the Eastern outfits there'll be some excitement. Says John: "If Brooklyn and some of the others hadn't caught up before we got going, we'd be at the top of the heap now. We'll get even with them as soon as we meet again. The Western teams are just as good as the Eastern, but when we went out things were breaking right, and so we won. Just keep your eye on us the next time."

* * *

Here's Ping Bodie's offer to solve the European war situation. He cables: "Let Germany and Italy and Austria jump on Servia. Then stack whoever likes up against England, Russia and France. Let the winners of this go have it out among themselves and then the one that's left could have a chance to tackle the United States for the championship of the world." Pretty good dope, European papers please copy.

* * *

NOW might be a particularly good time for the heads of the Flying Fraternity to demand a place on the National Commission. They have been looking for one ever since the union came into being. With the strike, that never came off, as a lever, seems as if they might edge in. There was no strike solely and simply because the "commish" bowed to the demands of the Frat. Had a player representative been in the "High court" there never would even have been any talk of a walkout. Feds and all, the time seems ripe for the players to speak up.

* * *

NOW they are beginning to talk of Dutch Leonard as a possible bracket companion to the great Walter Johnson in the lists of the "greatest pitchers of 'em all." One figure fiend compares the records of the two stars and finds that the young Red Sox southpaw has a bit on Walter in all points save control. "And," he says, "he has pretty good control at that." Here are the figures on the pair, which do not include Monday's shutout for Leonard or Walter's last defeat:

	Inn.	R.	H.	bb.	so.	P.C.
Leonard	159	69	23	42	124	.813
Johnson	213	103	47	34	123	.816

GERMANS OPEN BIG GAMES WITH AUSTRALASIANS

PITTSBURG, Penn., July 25.—The semi-final match for the Davis Cup will be played on the courts of the Allegheny Country Club today, tomorrow and Saturday, between the German and Australasian teams.

In the singles, N. E. Brookes of the Australasian team meets Otto Froitzheim of the German team, and A. F. Wilding meets Oscar Kreutzer. Brookes and Wilding will oppose Froitzheim and Kreutzer in the doubles tomorrow.

Saturday afternoon Brookes will play Kreutzen and Wilding will meet Froitzheim.

All the players engaged in hard practice yesterday. Brookes turned his right ankle, but declared the injury was not severe enough to effect his playing.

The Antipodeans did not practice, but the Germans engaged in doubles with A. Waldo Myers and Harmer Denny, Jr., who gave them a hard match.

The courts are in good shape. The cup committee of the Allegheny Club had completed all arrangements for handling the spectators. Practically all the seats for the matches have been sold.

The captains of the two teams selected Edwin F. Torrey of Clinton, N. Y., secretary of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, as referee for all the matches.

Victory for Miss Sisson.

BRISTOL, R. I., July 25.—The best match in the State championship match in women's singles was one in second round between Miss Hope Morehouse of Philadelphia, Miss Sisson winning.

Paul Wins Trade Golf.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Jerome Paul won the championship of the Carpet Trade Gold Association in the annual tournament at the Garden City links.

CORRI SWAYED BY NOISE, SAYS WILLIE RITCHIE

NEW YORK, July 25.—Willie Ritchie, shorn of his title of world's lightweight champion, arrived from England on the Vaterland. Ritchie at first was reluctant to advance an alibi for his recent defeat by Freddie Welsh, but after much persuasion the following statement was coaxed from him:

"I do not question Referee Corri's honesty, but I firmly believe he made an egregious error when he declared the verdict against me. It took him almost three minutes to determine the winner. That convinced me that he was undecided as to whom to award the decision.

"I promise he wanted to hear the tumult in favor of Welsh before he announced his decision. When the fight was over there was a general scramble in the ring, and the spectators sang and howled. Naturally, when Corri heard this demonstration he figured it would be best to give a decision in favor of the Englishman.

"I know I can beat Welsh in a long fight, but I suppose it will be a long time before he consents to take me on again. I am still the American champion, and will start fighting again in the Fall. No more England for mine."

Aboard the incoming liner was Dr. Alvin Kraenstein, the former University of Pennsylvania star, who has been coaching the German athletes the past year in preparation for the 1916 Berlin Olympiad.

Upon being informed that a big war was imminent on the Continent, Kraenstein said: "Well, if that's the case there will be no Olympic games in 1916."

Edith's Dinner Party Is a Great Success, But the Guests Wonder at Tom's Absence

By VIRGINIA TERHUNE VAN DE WATER

CHAPTER XIII.

LOOKING around her dinner table at the company assembled there, Mrs. Hale told herself that, after all, the affair was proving a success. The men were clever and brilliant; the girls attractive and merry.

The dear soul had had many misgivings of heart over the combination of circumstances that had necessitated Tom Morton's absence in spite of his longings to be with his fiancee on this occasion. Edith's mother never doubted Tom's sincerity nor his intention to be present tonight. She had pardoned Edith's swift resentment, for she was sure that it was only the mood of the moment.

Constance, in telling her aunt of the decision with regard to the non-announcement of the engagement this evening, had not intimated that the girl was angry with Tom. The mother assured herself that her child's vexation had been only of a moment's duration. Had not she herself, Martha Hale, sometimes been out of patience with her own dear John? She hated to remember that she had ever been so unreasonable, but she could not deny the truth.

"To Edith would rather wait to announce her betrothal until Tom can be with her?" Mrs. Hale had asked her niece.

And Constance had replied, "Yes, Aunt. She and I think it would be better—unless you object."

"Of course I don't object," Mrs. Hale had assured her. "Indeed I think it is a very natural preference on the dear child's part. I am sorry for her disappointment, but it will all come out right in the end."

The expected guests had arrived ten time, the table was beautifully the floral decorations, arranged by Constance's deft fingers, were effective, and all was going off happily. Edward Dayton, the man who was taking Tom Morton's place at Miss Hale's right hand, was a pleasant young fellow who was glad to have been selected as a substitute for the missing guest. So agreeable did he make himself that the hostess forgot to be sorry for Edith. When at last she looked down the table at her, her daughter's appearance allayed any doubts that might have arisen in the mother's mind.

EDITH THE PRETTIEST

No other girl present was as pretty as Edith. She had never looked lovlier than she did tonight, the proud parent observed. Ralph was evidently making himself very entertaining and Edith was laughing even more than usual at his jokes and stories. Her cheeks were flushed, her eyes almost unnaturally bright. She had, apparently, recovered entirely from her disappointment.

Opposite Edith sat Constance, talking to the man next to her in such a way as to entertain him, yet her aunt knew that her ever watchful eyes would be sure to detect any lack of attention on the part of the servants and that she would duly and fully and quietly rectify it. What a comfort the child was in the house! And again the hostess sighed with satisfaction.

It was at this juncture that there befell one of those strange and unaccountable pauses in the conversation—one of the pauses which we all have noticed even in a room full of people, who, a moment before, were all chatting busily. An old superstition has it, that when there come such sudden lull an angel is passing by. Constance Medford was about to mention this tradition to her companions when a man seated farther down the table asked, as if to fill in the awkward pause:

"By the way, where's Tom Morton tonight?" I rather expected to see him here, for"—with a glance at Ralph—"you two Mortons generally hunt in couples, don't you?"

It was a thoughtless speech and might have passed unnoticed had Edith Hale not flushed hotly and started to speak. Ralph attempted to conceal her embarrassment by replying quickly:

"Yes, Tom's missing all this fun because of an overstrained sense of duty. He's been called out of town on business."

"Too bad!" said someone, then the talk became general once more and Constance breathed more freely. Was it only fancy that made her think that several of the guests looked with some curiosity at Edith? Could the rumor of her engagement possibly have gotten abroad?

RALPH IS TEMPTED

The glances had not escaped Edith's consciousness, and it was with a nervous manner that she turned to Ralph when her guests were once more hushed upon the stream of animated conversation about the latest popular play.

"It was kind—and like you—to answer so quickly just now," she said in a low tone, her eyes downcast. "For a moment I feared you had as to what to say. But you did just the right thing."

"I spoke only the truth," he rejoined lightly. "Could I do less?"

The girl looked at him swiftly and searchingly. "You mean you spoke a part of what seems to be the truth," she corrected him.

"My dear girl!" he ejaculated, changing color slightly. "What do you mean? What are you hinting at?"

"I'm not hinting at anything," she replied. "I am merely saying that you know that there is a reason for Tom's absence—a reason which you have not told me."

"Are you sure he has not told you?" he asked carefully, almost suspiciously, watching her anxiously.

"Of course, he hasn't," she replied. "I fancy it is to Constance not to, and that you know it is, yet are trying to protect him."

There was a long silence while Ralph set his wits to work. This girl doubted him; she knew that there was some other matter than business that was keeping him away; possibly that there was some woman who was detaining him. Of course, there was—but need she know that the woman was no friend of Tom's?

As he reviewed the events of the past few days a great temptation faced this man. He was not in the habit of fighting temptation vigorously. All his life when he had gotten into scrapes there had been someone to get him out of them—as Tom was doing now.

And whenever Ralph Morton had wanted anything he usually got it. He wanted this girl; he had loved her for years, although Tom had never suspected this. How easy it would be now to tell her again what he had as good as told her often before—that he loved her!

Their Married Life

HELEN GOES OVER HER WARDROBE FOR THE SUMMER

(Copyright, 1914, by International News Service)

FOUR Summer dresses, some shirtwaists, a silk dress and two evening dresses, and Helen threw the whole of her armful on the bed despairingly. She wondered why she had thought herself so bountifully supplied for a Summer hotel; why, she had hardly anything, and if Louise decided to go away with them with all her trousseau clothes the meagre collection would never do.

Helen sat down on the edge of the bed and began to go over the things listlessly. Two of the Summer dresses were new, one of white silk and one of pink crepe—they, of course, were just what she needed. One of the evening dresses she had her Paris gowns, still beautiful but hopelessly out of date.

She would never be able to use it in the condition it was in now, but she might be able to have it made over. Some chiffon draped over the satin would do very well, and if Miss Graves could give her some time she might have another little dress made up at the same time. Miss Graves had just sent the black dress home—that would be just the thing for church or for cool afternoons—and then she had her suit and a couple of new blouses.

Helen had placed all the desirable clothes on one side of the bed and now she turned to the others wondering what could be done with the last year's Summer dresses. One, a pink and white linon, she slipped over her head and went into the living room to inspect herself in the mirror.

SHE CALLS TO NORA

"Nora, come in and hook this dress up, will you?" she called; "I want to see if I can possibly use it this year."

Nora came in obediently and fastened the dress up the back. She said nothing about the gown, which vaguely irritated Helen.

"What do you think about this dress, Nora? Do you think I could wear it this year?"

The dress was slightly short-waisted and was made in a coat style, and Helen had either grown or else the dress had shrunk badly, for the linen seemed to pull badly around the bottom. Altogether the dress had a last Summer's air about it and it was so foolish to try to make over a wash dress that Helen, without a reply from Nora, felt instinctively that it would not do.

"It seems too small for you, ma'am," said Nora finally, and Helen, with a smile, began to unhook it quickly.

"I guess that settles it, Nora, and I think the other one is just as bad; then it is, do you remember how fond I used to be of this blue striped dress when it was new, Nora?"

Nora picked up the blue and white striped voile from the bed. The blue was slightly faded and one of the sleeves was badly torn under the arm.

"Do you think you could do anything with these dresses, Nora?" If you do just take them to your room, you can make more use of them than I could."

"Thank you, ma'am, I'll be able to fix them up. They'll be better than anything I could afford to buy."

"And, Nora," cried Helen as she emptied the chest, "did we put some things anywhere else when we packed up last Fall? My bathing suit isn't here and there were some things be longing to Mr. Curtis."

"I think you left some things in the drawer underneath the wardrobe, Mrs. Curtis. Did you look there?"

"No, I remember now. All right, Nora, I'll call you again if I need you."

In the wardrobe drawer Helen found Warren's bathing suit and her own and a couple of white linen skirts that she had forgotten.

One she had been particularly fond of, and she pulled it out eagerly. The style was good, in fact she had seen very much like it in one of the windows downtown. There were large glass buttons down the front which gave a very smart appearance to the entire skirt; all that was needed was a good laundering, unless it was too short for her.

Helen held it up to her fearfully; no, the length was splendid, that was one thing, anyway, off her mind; the other skirt was a ratine that buttoned up the front breadth. She had never liked the thing, so what was the use of wearing it? Nora might as well have it; no doubt she could put it to good use.

Nothing was left to go over but the bathing suits. Warren's was in splendid condition, she knew that almost without looking, and she seized eagerly on her own. She remembered the day last year when she had bought the suit; she had paid a great deal of money for it at the time, for the simple reason that she had never had a bathing suit that suited her.

Somehow she had always considered them a useless extravagance, and had paid as little as possible for them until last season, when she had bought a satin one with all the fixings that she had always wanted and never wanted to spend the money for, with a birthday check that Warren had given her.

Helen could not help laughing to herself as she remembered showing Warren her purchase. He had admired the things until she told him that she had bought them with the check, then he wanted to give her more money.

"I don't want you to pay for things you wear with money I give you for a present," he had growled when she had protested. "Go downtown and get something in jewelry."

"But, dear," she had remonstrated, "I wish you would let me do things in my own way. I never would have been so extravagant if it hadn't been for the check, really."

SHE THINKS HIM GENEROUS

And then he had turned back to his paper with a muttered remark about having her own way. What a dear Warren was; not many men were as generous as he was.

Now that she had gone through everything, nothing remained but to make a list of what she needed and go down and get them as soon as possible. Nothing but what was necessary would go down on the list, but she must have more to take away with her than she had just at present.

With a pencil and a writing tablet on her knee, Helen began to think up the things she absolutely needed.

One must have a couple of shirtwaists, thin ones, and another white skirt. They were wearing cordroy so much this season—perhaps she could get a corduroy skirt without paying too much. At any rate, she could try. Then she must have at least two more thin dresses, a voile or an organdie, and a smart white linen.

Her new white coat she had worn only once, that would be just the thing—and her hats would do. Perhaps she could squeeze enough out of her allowance to get three dresses. There were plenty of places where things could be had at great reductions this time of the year. That was all then, excepting for that one evening dress. She must take that around to Miss Graves at once to see what is needed for the making over; there would be trimmings and things to talk over, too, and she had such a short time to do everything.

Formula for a Good Shampoo

People who use ordinary toilet or bar soap for cleansing the hair and scalp do not seem to know that such soaps remove only the dirt from the surface of the skin, while the scalp pores themselves remain clogged up. To put the scalp and hair roots in a healthy condition, it is advisable to use Birt's Head Wash, because it is a cleansing and purifying preparation that penetrates to where the secretions accumulate. It goes beneath the scalp surface, produces luxurious and abundant lather, takes out dirt, dust and bacteria, and leaves the hair and scalp in a delightfully clean condition.

The reason for these peculiar penetrating and cleansing virtues is due to the ingredients in Birt's Head Wash. These ingredients are cocoanut oil, white of eggs, glycerin and salicylic acid, combined with a refined creamy soap body. This formula is given openly, so that users of Birt's Head Wash may know exactly what it is.

The most convincing argument in favor of Savon Cadum, the great French complexion soap, is that the women of France have made it the most popular soap in that country. Its absolute purity is indispensable to all who value a clear complexion. Sold by the and drug stores. 50c a

Pleasures That Wear Well

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MAKE Happiness the direct object of pursuit and she will lead you a merry goose chase. Following some other object to a goal of ambition and achievement, and in your work you will probably find that you have caught happiness without dreaming of it.

Happiness does not lie in a butterfly chase of some dazzling beauty. It is not the elusive pot of gold at the end of a rainbow. But if you go about looking for Joy you will find her always winging away just where you cannot reach.

"We must cultivate our garden," says the old French proverb.

And to be happy we must cultivate the garden of our lives. You must not plant your "garden" with delicate wind-flowers that fall at a touch of bad weather. You must sow it with hardy perennials and whale bedded and fragrant, deep-rooted shrubs and honey-hearted roses. You must keep out weeds and thorns.

Just as you would tend a real garden you must tend the garden of your life. You must fill your life with "DURABLE SATISFACTIONS" if you mean to have it serene and happy and worth while.

The pleasures that wear well are not feverish enjoyments, or the chase of excitement, variety and gayety.

The "durable satisfactions" of life are those that will stay with you and make life richer and fuller tomorrow because you knew a worthwhile pleasure today.

In books, in music, in all that is a study of real beauty or a cultivation of your mind you will find a lasting pleasure. In friendship and unselfish affection is lasting joy. In improving yourself and making your garden grow in sweet, fragrant memories; in keeping abreast of the times and serving well wherever you are put you will find happiness that will outwear all the excitements of a moment of dance and song and merriment.

Be merry—but see that your merriment slights no one else. Give joy and you will find your own store of it increasing.

You never need be sad or lonely, for the world offers you a chance for lasting joy in cultivating the garden of you own life and in slipping cuts and scions of Happiness to bring to your neighbors' gardens!

A Good Understanding

"Help! Help! I can't swim, and my wife is drowning!"

"Why don't you walk out to her, then? You don't appear to be out of your depth."

"Yes, I am. I am standing on her!"

Household Suggestions

When boiling fowls or fish, add to the water in which they are boiled the juice of half a lemon. This will make them beautifully white.

Fish may be scaled much easier by first dipping them into boiling water for a minute.

Coffee is a fairly good air purifier, and a little burnt coffee will purify a sick room and abolish bad smells. Many physicians think highly of the bracing effects of coffee taken before they visit cases of infectious disease.

When jars and jugs have been put away and smell musty, rinse them with lime water. This is particularly good for vessels used for milk, as there is no likelihood of their not being properly cleaned.

If flowers have come by post they will freshen up wonderfully if their stems are placed in hot water for a little while before arranging them in vases.

If, when making boiled starch, a piece of soap is left in, it will be found during the ironing process that not only will the iron slip along easily, but a beautifully glossy effect will be produced.

Up-to-Date Jokes

Landlord—That feller who just swaggered past? Oh, that's Bill Brown, an' he's a terror to autymobilists, I tell you!

Visitor—What! the village constable, eh?

Landlord—Worse; he's the only motor repair man within ten miles.

Mrs. Oneymun—"If you never go to church with me, how are people to know that I am married?"

Mr. Oneymun—"I take the kids with you. I guess that will make people suspect the truth at least."

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Feeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. Frederick D. Rogers, of Chicago, Ill., says: I have found Fletcher's Castoria very useful in the treatment of children's complaints.

Dr. William C. Bloomer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: In my practice I am glad to recommend your Castoria, knowing it is perfectly harmless and always satisfactory.

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

LATEST NEWS OF THE STOCK EXCHANGES

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor.

Stocks were weaker than ever this afternoon. Many of them showed sensational losses. War fear dominated the New York market. It bore the brunt of the European stampede. There was frenzy in the Chicago wheat pit and heavy liquidation on the New York cotton exchanges. Values tumbled fast everywhere. Trading was on an enormous scale. The calling of a meeting of the New York Clearing House Committee for this afternoon is significant of tension on foreign money markets, and its possible effects here. Consols in London sold down to 69, the lowest price on record for this standard British security at its present interest rate. Rentes have touched in Paris the lowest price since the France-German war. It is said of the Paris situation that it is "at the braking point. Depositors are swarming to banks to withdraw deposits. Gold command a heavy premium there. Up to noon in New York today it was impossible to make a silver quotation. Business in the financial district of London is at a standstill.

Among early afternoon declines in New York were: Atchison, 3¾, St. Paul 3¾, Canadian Pacific 7¾, Southern Pacific 4¾, Reading 1⅝, Lehigh Valley 7¾, New Haven 1¾, Steel 3¾, Amalgamated 7¾, American Smelting 4⅝, Union Pacific 4½, Northern Pacific 2¾, Chesapeake & Ohio 3¾, and New York Central 2¾.

Among losses in Boston were Copper Range 2¾, Boston & Maine 1. New Haven 2¾, Elevated 2, United Fruit 1, American Telephone 1¼, Butte & Superior 2½, Calumet & Arizona 3¾, Lanby 5, Alaska Gold 2¾, and Shoe common 2¾.

GLOOMY NEWS FROM ABROAD.

There was less hope of a localization of the European war when markets opened in this country, as war news from abroad was gloomy in almost every sense. Traders all over the world were in a panicky mood. This was reflected in a slump in prices at the opening in New York, while they averaged much lower in Boston. The quotations of Americans which came from London were nominal only. There is practically no market for them. In fact, business is stagnant in all departments of the royal exchange. The same situation prevails in Paris, and bourses are closed at St. Petersburg, Vienna, Budapest, Brussels, Amsterdam, Montreal and Toronto, while trading is suspended at Berlin, Rome and Milan. This leaves New York to transact the world's business. Most of the pressure on Americans is now the result of foreign selling. It was continued this morning. It has had the effect of daunting bargain hunters, whose investment purchases were a stimulating force yesterday. After the opening today, when Canadian Pacific was especially weak, and some leading American industrials and rails sustained large losses, the trend was downward during the morning. New lows were many.

FOREIGN BANK RATES RAISED.

The Bank of England's statement today was a poor one and it has raised its minimum discount rate from 2 to 4 per cent. The Bank of France raised its rate from 2½ to 3 per cent. and indicated to what extent gold is being hoarded in Europe by withdrawing a large quantity free circulation. It also called in considerable silver. Up to noon gold engagements for export announced in New York today totalled $7,750,000. The suspensions of two more brokerage houses in London were announced. But an encouraging cablegram said that the danger of civil war in Ireland has been averted by the British government and the opposition reaching an agreement as to amending the Irish home rule bill. The financial situation is tense in all European capitals. It is critical in Paris, according to advices. Gold is contraband of war and may be seized by any neutral ship. How much fear there is of a spread of hostilities is evinced by underwriters in raising the insurance rate on gold shipped to Europe from $1,250 to $5,000 per $1,000,000 within forty-eight hours.

BANKING CONFERENCE CALLED.

The call rate in New York was 6 per cent. this morning, and that the monetary situation in the United States may soon require attention was shown by call for a meeting of action of the New York Clearing House Committee this afternoon. In this connection this is the influential body of financiers in the United States. The meeting will consider financial conditions all over the world. Gold withdrawals have reached such a volume that they cannot be ignored by even a land so richly stocked with yellow metal as this is.

VERY WEAK AT MIDDAY.

Markets were very weak at midday, and in New York most issues were at the lowest they had been since the opening. Among the weakest were Amalgamated, Canadian Pacific, American Smelting, Consolidated Gas, Lehigh Valley, General Electric, Great Northern preferred, Reading, Southern Pacific, Utah Copper, Westinghouse and U. S. Rubber. They had declined from three to more than ten points. Two-point recessions were many. In the first hour share transactions included 290,000 of Amalgamated, 12,600 Canadian Pacific, 22,000 Reading, 23,000 Union Pacific and 46,000 Steel. "Some house," said one dispatch, "were so much impressed with the idea that the Continent would resort to hoarding of gold on large scale that they refused to take orders for purchase of stock unless orders were accompanied by certified checks or real money."

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

Vice-President M. C. Keith says that the twelve new liners being built in Belfast for the United Fruit Company will be ready by the end of this year.

In the London copper warrants market at noon spot was quoted at £58 5s, off £1, and futures £57 15s, off 10s.

GLADYS WELLS and, below, Elizabeth Wells, two of the three sisters whose unlucky encounter with a rattlesnake and moving-picture-like consequences caused unusual excitement in Lynn.

GIRLS, SNAKE AND TURTLE CAUSE STIR

Well! Well! How many Wells make some excitement in Lynn?

Answer—three, if they are the Wells girls.

The Wells girls are Gladys, 17; Elizabeth, 15, and Martha, 10. They are the fair daughters of Edward H. Wells of No. 13 Otis street—notice the number, thirteen.

Anyhow, Gladys and Elizabeth and Martha went blueberrying.

Elizabeth stepped on a snake. The snake bit Elizabeth on the left foot. Elizabeth fainted at the sight of snake and bite.

Gladys rushed up, tore off Elizabeth's stocking, sucked the wound, carried Elizabeth to the street, stopped an auto and went home with her sister.

Martha, meanwhile, was left behind. She walked toward home, which borders on Sluice Pond. At the pond Martha fell in.

Gladys, coming out to look for Martha, saw her being pulled out of the pond. Gladys fainted, this getting her share of the day's bad luck.

But that isn't all. James Soney, a Summer visitor, called to express sympathy for Elizabeth, then went down to Sluice Pond and found a snapping turtle much off the first joint of his left little toe.

It is considered quite a busy Summer day in Lynn.

WALSH DELAYS IN NAMING MEN FOR PORT BOARD

An unexpected delay today in the announcement of Governor Walsh's appointments to the new Board of Port Directors caused anxiety among candidates and their supporters to become feverish.

This was the regular session day for the Executive Council and the councillors expected, when they met, that they would receive the Governor's choice before noon. As the morning wore into the afternoon and no names were sent over, the councillors took up some routine matters and wondered why the delay.

It was unofficially reported from the Executive office that the Governor, while having his mind pretty clearly made up, was holding up the appointments a little in his great anxiety to name men he deems absolutely fit for the positions from technical and administrative standpoints, as well as satisfactory to the greatest number of people.

CONEY IS SLATED.

It was pretty clearly understood that Congressman Joseph A. Conry, now Russian consul at this port, will be on the up-board, and that Senator Lomasney's friend in Ward Park will be the Republican member. But the question of who is to be the other Democratic member with Conry is up in the air.

William A. McNary, chairman of the Harbor and Land Commission and a member of the old Port Board, has not been conspicuously mentioned for the third berth, but counter report today had it that the Governor inclines in another direction.

Mr. McNary was at the Governor's office for some time through the morning. Mayor Curley was also called there, but no doubt in the minds of observers but what the Mayor was there in connection with the port board appointments.

Ex-Mayor Nathan Matthews' name has been also mentioned in the discussion, also Commander Dulaney, U. S. N. (retired.)

The old board numbered five. Hugh Bancroft was chairman at $15,000 a year, the highest paid State office. The other four received $1,000 a year. This made a total of $19,000 a year. The new board is to be made up of three members at $6,000 a year each. It will cost $1,000 a year, which is only $1,000 a year less than the old board, but the money will be evenly divided.

There was some speculation whether Governor Walsh would name the new Fire Hazard Commission, but the keenest interest was in the Port Board.

Francisco Villa, the One Man Able to Execute Law and Preserve Order, Should Be Made President of Mexico

If the Administration in Washington firmly intends to meddle in international Mexican politics;

If it intends, after neglecting the lives and property of its own citizens, to interfere in the politics of Mexican citizens;

If it is determined to dictate who shall be President of Mexico—then, for the sake of peace and security, let it select a President of power and capacity.

Let it select a man with sufficient ability, sufficient force of character and sufficient popular following to maintain himself in office, to repress revolution, to protect life and property, domestic and foreign, and to re-establish law and order in that stricken land.

The one man in this Mexican conflict and crisis who has appeared to tower above all others in personal power and capacity, in the magnetism to lead, the mastery to command and the ability to execute, is Francisco Villa.

There are many men in Mexico more cultivated than Villa, many better educated, many more trained in diplomatic service and in the gentler arts of government.

But these qualities, excellent as they may be, are not what is required to rule an unruly people at this time.

A strong hand is needed, a determined purpose, a masterful mind, an experience gained from personal contact with the masses, a sympathetic understanding of the people's aims and needs.

These qualities Francisco Villa possesses as does no other man in Mexico, and he is fortified in these qualifications by the admiration and affection of the army which has followed him and the citizens who believe in him.

If Villa is made President he will remain as President and establish a stable and reliable government.

If another man is made President by foreign interference he will have to reckon with Villa and with the masses who believe in Villa.

There will be further conflict, further confusion, further disaster and devastation and in the end the strong man—the popular leader—will still prevail.

It is idle for Mr. Wilson to assume that he is not attempting to dictate in Mexican affairs. He is an autocrat in everything. He is as much of a dictator in Mexico as he is in the United States. Perhaps more so, as he is a military dictator in Mexico, able to impose his demands by force of arms.

Since he is a dictator, prescribing the government for Mexico and the men and measures of that government, let him dictate wisely. Let him name the right man. Let him name a President who is capable of being President. Let him create a government which is able to govern. Let him restore order which will remain orderly, and establish civilized conditions which will continue civilized. Let him place power in hands accustomed to power and capable of exercising it.

Let him name Francisco Villa—rude and rough, but a military and executive genius and the idol of the populace—President of Mexico.

Then let there be peace.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

Mr. Coulthurst Is Making a Good Fight Against Curley's Lighting Contract

City Councillor John A. Coulthurst never changes. From the time that the AMERICAN first noticed his work, more than ten years ago, in the Massachusetts Legislature, he has continued to be in public life a faithful public servant.

There never was a moment's doubt that Mr. Coulthurst would be opposed to the electric lighting contract which Mr. Curley is attempting to foist upon the city of Boston at an enormous cost to her citizens.

Mr. Coulthurst's letter in reply to the Mayor's communication urging the approval by the City Council of his contract with the electric lighting company is characteristic of Mr. Coulthurst. In this letter he declares that a PROPER contract would save the city of Boston $150,000 a year; or a ten year contract, which this is proposed to be, would save the city $1,500,000.

How many workmen could be given employment and how much work could be done for the city with the money which thus could be saved?

This proposed contract, as Mr. Coulthurst points out, is disapproved by the Chamber of Commerce, the United Improvement Association, the Finance Commission and the Central Labor Union. As Mr. Coulthurst properly says, this contract, involving millions, was entered into by a Mayor who knows nothing whatever about the subject and by a Commissioner of Public Works who admits that his idea of the cost of electricity is only a "mere guess."

THIS IS THE ALLEGED BUSINESS ADMINISTEATION WHICH WE ARE ENJOYING IN BOSTON TODAY. THIS IS THE KIND OF ECONOMY WHICH IS BEING PRACTICED AT CITY HALL.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

He Must Be Astonished at His Own Moderation

We are not surprised to hear that Mr. Bryan got $259 each for his Sunday lectures. What surprises us is that he didn't charge double time on the ground that he had to work on holidays.

A Tempered Wind

The New Haven has broken down the health of its president, but not nearly so violently as it broke down the health of some of its passengers.

Nothing Is in Vain

The peace temple at The Hague will make a splendid place to store arms and ammunition in until it is needed elsewhere in Europe.

Let Him Get a Reputation

If the President really means to appoint Mr. McReynolds to the Supreme Court, why not let him qualify by landing a few New Haven criminals first.

Just the Map

Al Jennings isn't making much headway as a candidate for Governor of Oklahoma, but there is still a vacancy in the United States Supreme Court.

Votes for Fans!

Prof. J. E. Wrench of Missouri has come out in favor of government ownership of baseball.

IF a fielder boots a grounder that was only good for one,
And the bonehead that propelled it by a fluke gets in a run;
Will we tell him we will kill him (it's the fielder that I mean),
Will we bounce our soda bottles off his solid concrete bean?
We will not. But oh! that error we shall carefully remember
And we'll vote him to the bushes in November.

WHEN a pitcher cannot hand 'em anything they cannot clout,
And the manager won't hear us when we holler "Take 'im out!"
Will we savagely revile him when he marches to the mound
Till our execrations echo fully half a mile around?
We will not. The glorious ballot shall henceforth be our protection,
And we'll vote him to the bushes next election.

WHEN an umpire pulls a rank one and we lose the game thereby,
Will we sullenly inform him that we'll paste him in the eye?
Will we call him thief and robber and cry out "Nobody home!"
While we clench our fist and tap it on our unresponsive dome?
We will not! But when next Autumn to the polling booth we ramble
We'll elect some honest umpires, you can gamble!

One Thing to Be Thankful for

While the war spirit is flaming through all Europe we see what an awful thing it would have been if Andrew Carnegie had had time to extend his peace propaganda clear around the world, as he intended to do.

Sheer Recklessness!

John Hennessy's automobile was smashed while touring over the New York State highways. After all John has written about the condition of New York roads one would think he'd have enough sense to keep off of them.

Have All Our Insects Gone Berserk?

BEE UPSETS AUTO.—Headline. Add this to the stories of the ravages of the army worm, the crimes of the fly and the misbehavior of the mosquito and we have a pretty black case against our bug brothers.

What's the Use?

Just as we had learned how to pronounce Aguascalientes and Carbajal along comes a war full of names that we can't even parse.

The Height of Hospitality

Apparently Europe started this general rumpus merely to make Mr. Huerta feel at home when he gets over there.

Too Late

"Tell the dear public," said Charles S. Mellen in Boston, "that I am here to steal away the liberties of the people in Massachusetts." Vain threat. There are none left to steal.

Let Them Get on the Job

How does it happen that that offer of $25,000,000 to Colombia has not aroused in action the Society for the Prevention of Useless Giving?

Mysteries of Science and Nature

Professor Pickering of Harvard Discovers New Way to Determine the Parallax of Stars by Photography

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

I WONDER how many readers will see much cause for rejoicing, or even much meaning, in the following statement made by Professor Pickering, of the Harvard Observatory, when speaking of the latest advance in the determination of the parallax of the stars by means of photography:

"The recent increase in accuracy is at least tenfold, or that of another place of decimals. A hundredth of a second of arc can now be determined with greater accuracy than a tenth of a second twenty or thirty years ago."

This is the statement of an exceedingly wonderful fact, but I suspect that there are thousands of "educated" persons who will have only a very misty notion as to what it all means. Probably not one man in a hundred of those you meet every day could tell you what a "second of arc" is, or what it has to do with the stars. Yet it is a part of the A B C of the most magnificent of all sciences and the basis of all our knowledge concerning the dimensions of this great universe, on one of the least of whose dust-motes we live and brag!

A second of arc is a measure of space; it has nothing to do with time. It is, like a degree, a certain part of the circumference of a circle.

In other words, it is an arc, or section, of the circumference of a circle. Most people, surely, have at least a dim idea as to what a degree is. They have heard that the diameter or breadth of the sun or the moon, as we see them in the sky, is about half a degree. Now a second of arc is one thirty-six-hundredth of a degree. Sixty seconds of arc make a minute of arc, sixty minutes of arc make a circle, so that a second of arc is only the one-million-two-hundred-and-ninety-six-thousandth part of the circumference of a circle—any circle.

Whenever we want to measure the distance of any visible object that is beyond our reach we have to employ these sub-divisions of the circle. We begin by supposing the object, or objects, to be situated on the circumference of a circle the centre of which is occupied by the observer's eye.

If an object is about 206,265 times its own diameter away it covers an arc of one second. If it is about 3,438 times its own diameter away it covers an arc of one minute. If it is about 57 3-16 its own diameter away it covers an arc of one degree. Now, as we have seen, the sun and the moon each covers about half a degree of arc on the sky, and their distance might be calculated directly from their apparent size, if we began with a knowledge of their real size.

But with the stars it is fundamentally different. They are so far away that the most powerful telescope is unable to tell us anything about the arms that their real diameter covers. They look only like gleaming points. So we have to adopt the method of "parallax," which is based upon the slight shift of place in the sky which the stars undergo in consequence of the earth's motion around the sun. The earth's orbit is 156,000,000 miles across.

Wherever the earth may be at any time, six months later it will have passed round to the opposite side of its orbit.

If a star is observed, then, at periods six months apart, the direction in which it appears against the background of the sky will have shifted because of this change of 156,000,000 miles in the position of the observer on the earth, and the amount of shifting that the star's place in the sky has undergone, as measured on the circumference of a circle supposed to enclose the heavens, will represent the arc that the diameter of the earth's orbit (156,000,000 miles) would cover as seen from that particular star. This is called the star's parallax. In practice it is the radius and not the diameter of the earth's orbit that astronomers use for such operations; but that is merely a detail which does not affect the result.

Now, the parallax of a star is never so large as a single second of arc. In the majority of cases it is so small a fraction of a second that it cannot be certainly measured, even since the enormous improvement noted by Professor Pickering, which permits the measurement of arcs so excessively small as the hundredth of a second.

Would you like to know how small a space a second of arc covers? It is something far below the range of the naked eye. If we suppose a pin's head to be 1-16 of an inch in diameter then that pin's head would cover a second of arc if it were placed at a distance of 1,375 feet. Or, if you take a ball one foot in diameter, it would cover one second of arc if placed at a distance of thirty-nine miles!

In order to cover only one-hundredth of a second, which Professor Pickering informs us has now become in astronomy, it would have to be 3,900 miles away!

When the astronomer has obtained the parallax of a star he finds out how far away it is by first multiplying the earth's distance from the sun by 206,265, and then dividing the result by the figures representing the parallax. Thus we see that a star having a parallax of one one-hundredth of a second must be sunk about nineteen hundred and eighteen millions of millions of miles in the gulf of space! But it is nowhere near the bottom—or the top!
